Dear Ms Dilks,

27th February 2015

Magistrates Public Court Records and My Son's Affidavit

I apologise for appearing to have written to you by mistake rather than to case worker. It may have highlighted possibility of not quite all of us, exactly, 'singing from the same hymn sheet'.

At 19th Nov14 A20140082 Bristol Crown Court Appeal, for 'arrest' of 1st Dec 2011 Crown Prosecutor (Cardiff harassment conviction), there was disclosed documentary evidence indicating CCRC has copy of 1st Dec 2011 Cardiff Magistrates clerk's notes and especially copy of original court log where no reference of any 'restraining order' is recorded. Is both correct?

Also, possibly, you may have the altered and re written version of court log omitting some hearings and inserted what T20120090 4th May 2012 jury requested in various 'notes' to His Honour Judge Curran QC? Following the cross examination of clerk of court and Geoamey custody supervisor the jury asked to see if there was written evidence of a typed, part typed and/or manuscript form of a 'restraining order' in existence, by being recorded in the Geoamey and/or clerk's notes? The custodial supervisor unlocked my cell door with who's key? Rules, alone, cast doubt in verdict.

Also now is the fact the prosecutor's versions of his 'last minute' added allegation, re my 'posting a WANTED' poster and who was author and routes taken by each of the four restraining order versions to my cell? Over the years between courts, depending on who 'asked' and who was presiding, three of the four versions so far, often could not be found indicating malfeasance.

At the time of 'jury notes' being banded about in open court and my defence witnesses being called I was not there with the court having been told I had been hurriedly returned to prison for a doctor's attention as they had witnessed haemorrhage from my rectum. As with all litigation, to do with police civil damages claims and criminal defences, both parties are dependant on the police correctly disclosing their records so, for example, where are tape and/or transcripts. (Over £10,000 on transcripts spent since 2009 MAPPA 'machine gun' stitch up for redactions of crucial words or critical parts 'corrupted' when knowing I will be denied access to listen).

In your case annex A or B of the regulations it suggests, for example, I can get from you those Cardiff court records to prove my innocence or far more to the point police, Geoamey, Crown Prosecution Service, Crown Court and 2012/324/D2 Royal Courts of Justice records?

Jury notes, public gallery friends tell me, were passed around in 4th May12 court. Can you obtain true copies of jury notes and court log, please(I will pay)? Their Lordships were quite oblivious to any jury notes recorded asking for clerk's notes ( see paragraph 9 of 14th March12 RCJ judgment 2012/324//D2. Jury notes are never disclosed to me, officially, by Cardiff if you get my drift.

Thankyou,

Encl. 25th Feb15 civil case 'Position Statement' & my son's affidavit re conspiracy
